

November 2020

As this unprecedented year nears its conclusion, the Board of Directors of Friends of the Sedona Library (FOL) would like to express its gratitude for your prior membership contribution.

With the circle of our lives drawn closer to home by the coronavirus pandemic, the entertainment and educational resources provided by Sedona Public Library became even more sought after by many local residents.

Patrons reserved books online. They accessed "e" and audio books, videos and magazines from the comfort and safety of their homes. Online databases provided research capabilities for subjects ranging from native plants to genealogy and beyond. However, without an annual financial pledge from FOL, Sedona's library might not have these virtual options available. Even with the resounding success of the Friends' used book store, there remains a considerable gap between its proceeds and the FOL pledge amount.

Your privately owned library was up, running and providing literary services thirty years prior to the City of Sedona's incorporation in 1988. Now recognized as a core service by the City, it receives some municipal funding to help cover basic operations. But, without your membership contribution, children's, teen and adult programming along with the newer technologies and other free specialty services could suffer cuts.

For more than fifty years Friends of the Sedona Library has been a 100% volunteer organization. Without any salaries or real property to sustain, its operating costs are extremely low. That means that most of each dollar received goes directly to assuring that your library remains an iconic yet modern and vital community hub.

Your continued support is truly appreciated. If you value the importance of your hometown library, this is the time to renew your membership commitment. For less than the cost of a single hard-cover book, NOW is your time to "Be a Friend".

Sincerely,

Mary Snyder

President
